

About:

Dr. Manas Dutta , Assistant Professor, now teaches in the Department of History, Kazi Nazrul University, Asansol, West Bengal, India. Email: manasduttacu@gmail.com

He holds a Ph. D. on the Colonial Military History of South India, 1807-1885 under the supervision of Dr. Raj Sekhar Basu from the Department of History, University of Calcutta. His area of research covers the domains of Military History of South Asia (colonial and post-colonial), History of Science, Technology, Medicine and Environment, Gender History and the History of Lower Caste Movement in India.

Academic Scholarship and Awards:

He has qualified NET in 2011. He received the fellowship from the Ministry of Human Resource and Development, Government of India in 2007. He has received the Junior Research Fellowship from the Indian Council of Historical Research (ICHR) in 2011. He has also received the prestigious research Fellowship from the History Division, Ministry of Defence, Government of India in 2011. He has qualified National Scholarship in 1999.

Publications:

He has contributed in journals such as Social Scientist, Indian Historical Review, Studies in Peoples' History (Sage), Calcutta Historical Journal, Societal Studies (Mycolo Romeris University), Exploring History, Proceeding of the Indian History Congress, The Inclusive, Journal of Humanities and Social Sciences, Perspective (University of Calcutta), Indian Journal of Multidisciplinary Academic Research, Perspective Asia Pacific (IAAPS),

His contributions would be forthcoming in journals such as Social Scientist, Indian Historical Review (Sage), History and Sociology of South Asia (Sage), South Asia Research (Sage), Contemporary South Asia (Routledge), Itinerario (Cambridge University Press), South Asia: The Journal of South Asian Studies (Sage), Journal of Military and Strategic Studies (University of Calgary), International Bibliography of Military History (Brill), Journal of Military Ethics (Sage).

Books and Edited Volumes:

His jointly edited books Modernity of India: Ambiguities and Deformities (English) and Prachalito Itihaser Baire: Banglar Ek A-Chartito Chalchitro (Bengali) have published from Setu and Readers Service in 2014.

Member in the Academic Bodies:

Life member of the Indian History Congress (IHC), Paschimbanga Itihas Samsad and Kolkata Centre for Contemporary Studies (KCCS)

Academic Link:

<https://caluniv.academia.edu/ManasDutta>